FREW, CAMPBELL & HART, (Entered at the Postoffice at Wheeling, W. Va., second class rastic.)

WHEELING, W. VA., MAY 17, 1884.

THE WHISPERING GALLERY. I am a somewhat old though not "regu ular" theatre-goer. I have been going for a long time, though I do not present my sell at the show-house as often as the doors thereof are open. When I do go I go to enjoy the perfermance—to be thrilled by tragedy, melted by melo-drams, amuse by comedy or farce, at all events to be diverted. In the "waita" I can er joy a quiet chat with my neighbor, but I ask to be let alone while the play is on. I have a special grievance spainst those thoughtless persons who sit behind me, in loud tones persons who sit behind me, in loud tones that the state of the second sec cial grievance spainst those thoughtless persons who sit behind me, in loud tones anticipate what is coming and make their criticisms on what is passeing on the boards. It certainly cannot be necessary to their pleasureito echo all the good things of the players, so that I shall hear them twice. This raking fore and aft is a particularly effencive form of annoyance; it is not peculiar to Wheeling, but there ought to be none of it anywhere. I have spoken of the persons who do these things as thoughtless. The thing that they do is silbred. They will not like to be told so, but their grievance is against themselves, not against those whom they annoy and who have come interest in this reminder, which is intended to be gentle and kind.

I am curious to see what will come of the latest proposition to supply Wheeling with natural gas. I am not a manufacturer, or the son of a manufacturer, bu'll think I can see what natural gas or the want of it will see what natural gas or the want of it will be to Wheeling. I have expected to see opposition to this proposition based on the idea that the company furnishing the gas would make a good thing ont of it, and no thought given to the good thing that Wheeling would make out of it. I have not been disappointed. And now I-wonder whether Wheeling will the herself up by the theat while more liberal and more der whether Wheeling will ite hersell up by the throat while more liberal and more enterprising places leap to the front to get gas at almost any cest? I need not remind observant men that changed trade rola-tions make a new geography, take from and add to values, build up and tear down. It is for Wheeling to consider whether she will go back or go shead. The other night I looked upon a sight that filled me with sadness. A man of fine mind, good opportunities, whose conons were respectable and whose associates had been genteel, was reeling alon; the street-for him no uncommon thing. knew that a loving wife in every way a helpmeet, interesting children and an aged mother who had watched him in tender-nees, were neglected, mortified and sorrowmother who had watched him in tendernees, were neglected, mortified and sorrowstricken by his behavior. I knew that he was a man of fine instinct, honest toward everybody but himself and his family. I spoke kindly to him and asked v hy he persisted in the roin of all that was dear to him. He wept bitterly and replied, "I have no control over myself. I am as helpless as a babe. The appetite takes hold of me and I can't sheke it off. I know the end, and I don't care how soon it comen," He was not too drunk to talk rationally, He refused to let me see him home. After we parted I saw him red into a saloon for more drink. That man is not fit to direct his ways. He is a danger to himself and the community. If ke were to commit a crime the law would take hold of him and try to reform him. Why doesn't the law take hold of him mow? Fines and workhouse do not reform drunkards. Their disease requires very different treatment.

I was in Pittsburgh Thursday night and sttended the last concert of the Musical Festival. It was Nilsson's night, and the restrict. It was Misson's night, and the entire audience, numbering over 4,500, was a wildly enthusiastic one. Theodore Thomas never allows an encore; he makes up a programme that amply repays the outlay of time and money made by the andience, and wisely determines that it is entitled to that and no more. The superb Swedish sonestress never says more grand. vocalerous applicating, surrendered to a fact that a conductor was at the head wi knew how to teach them good manners.

persons who persist in talking, I wish to say that Wheeling audiences very frequently at concerts show bad breeding by demanding encore to every number. It is in very bad taste—this endeavoring by noisy applause to stop the progress of a concert after every number in order to get twice one's money's worth. Let the Wheeling musicians imitate Thomas and positively refuse to give encores. They will make friends by, so doing. I do not wish to be understood as discouraging judicious applause; I'm strongly in tavor of that as recognizing the merits of the performance. A lecturer may give infinite pleasure—but will anybody demand that he shall begin da capo and give it all over again for the one price of admission?

Perhaps one of the most significant straws of the presidential campaign in this city so far is the expression of presidential preferences at the Union Catholic Library Association in this city. The organization is composed mostly of Irish Roman Catholics of the better educated classes, and a sprinkling of German and American Catholics. A PARTY OF PAIR PLAY. Where the Independent Republican Make Their Mistake-The People Are Not Wrong.

N. Y. Tribune (Rep.)

The circular of the Independent Reput lican Conference Committee is, on the whole, a sensible document. But it contains one proposition that cannot be suc cessfully maintained. That proposition that "the Republican party cannot affor to burden itself with a defensive campaign. It can afford to do just that. Have the gentlemen who prepared the circular co soon forgotten the Garfield fight of 1880? That was a defensive fight, it there ever was one, from beginning to end. opened their batteries upon the General just as soon as he was nominated. They never ceased firing until election night. Nevertheless he was triumphantly elected. The truth is that a party can always afford to make a defensive fight, when, as in Gartield's case, it has "a sure defense" for its candidate. To argue otherwise is to cast a reflection upon the intelligence and sense of justice of the American people. For it implies that they either cannot or will not discriminate between charges made and charges proven; that they regard accusacharges proven; that they regard accusa-tion and conviction as convertible terms that they stand ready to accept as true the counts of an indictment without stopping to listen to the evidence. Once let such a

The Republican party was born of the instinct of fair play. The people thought he would warrender, and the applause was redoubled. The entire orchestra was now playing, but net a sound could be heard above that of the terrific applause that shook the building. Gentlemen: As you are aware, I have used in my practice Gombault's Caustic Balsam for the past three years, with, I am pleased to inform you, the most satisfactory results. The cases in which I have principally used it have been in throat and lung affections, such as laryngitis, strangles, severe cases of influenzs, bronchitis, pneumonia, etc. In the above find that it acts as an excellent counter-irritant, without causing the animal any great pain or producing any constitutional disturbance during its action. This I deem a very important feature in the treatment of all the above diseases. I have likewise found it very beneficial in bad sprains of muscular itssue, such as injuries to shoulder or hip. I am governed a great deal by the clase of cases as to how I apply it, but invariably full strength, without being diluted with anything. Very respectfully,
